

September 6 – St. Ignace MI

The weather was perfect again today. After a lazy morning we got out about 10:00 to go to Sault Ste Marie. We did not plan well, nor did we prepare well. The Soo Lock area does not allow dogs, so we just got an outside sort of view. Our passports were left in the RV so we could not go to the Canadian side. Oh well, on the bucket list for next time and it was a scenic drive on a really nice day. We did try Clyde's Drive-in, which had great reviews. It did live up to those reviews, on the lines of In and Out in California only better black bean burgers.

We did stop at Castle Rock, which is kind of hokey, but it was an amazing view from the top. After that we drove along the Huron Lake coastline for a little while and then for a hike in Castle State Park on the North County National Scenic Trail.
