

September 15 – Brattleboro, VT

We pulled out of Utica mid-late morning and drove about 3 hours through some outstanding forests and mountains. The scenery was amazing. There was some road work along the way but we found the roads to be in very good condition for a smooth(er) ride. We went through Wilmington VT, which was a quaint little town that seemed to be alive and geared towards tourism. We would definitely plan time in this area in the future.

Brattleboro is also a small community in a beautiful country setting, however not really geared to tourism. After parking at our Harvest Host, Saxtons River Distillery, we took a drive through town, visited one of Vermont's famous covered bridges, The Creamery Covered Bridge and stopped for some food at the Top of the Hill Grill before heading back to the RV for some down time.
