

September 30 – Saco, ME

The sun was shining and the trees are starting to turn more and more. We returned to Ogonquit to walk the beaches and enjoy this quaint little town. The flowers, both wild and cultivated are still spectacular and there are a lots of flower displays to enjoy in the town. The restaurants were still seating outdoors and most of the little shops were open and nothing was crowded. This is a great time of year to visit this little town.

September 30 – Saco, ME

September 30 – Saco, ME

