

October 12 – College Park, MD

Bill and Anne picked us up to go to the African American Smithsonian Museum. This was our first visit to this museum. This particular museum has timed entry passes and ours was for noon. It was very interesting and very well done, from the architecture to the displays. You enter the museum at the lowest point, C3, then you move through history as you go up levels. Highly recommend.

There were food trucks lining the street so we enjoyed food truck food and an ice cream!
